Cast Your Vote

This past Tuesday was Election Day across the country and many people went out to exercise their right to vote. Over the years, I have met many Christians with diverse and deeply held views on political issues. I have known those who were staunch Democrats. They believed in helping the common man in his plight and felt that the Democratic Party was the best option to accomplish this. I have known those who were steadfast Republicans. They believed that the more conservative Republican Party would keep America on a proper moral path and keep the country closer to our founding religious heritage. I have known still others who believe politics is nothing but a den of deceit and iniquity that God’s people should have nothing to do with. All of these Christians have one thing in common; they are all doing what they believe to be the right thing.

Ultimately, Christians can not put their faith in any political party or receive their guidance from any political platform. Only God can provide us with the right answers on every issue and lead us down the correct path. His word is the only place to get reliable guidance for our lives. In the end, there is only One who deserves our complete faith and loyalty. He is the great, all-knowing, and all-powerful Jehovah God.

Helping Those in Need – Please continue to fill the boxes with items for the homeless and others in need. We will be making distributions soon. Thank you for helping others.

Young Adult and Singles Class – We've completed our first adult class that was wrapped around the discussion of the book, "Cure for the Common Life" by Max Lucado. The book has been an additional resource to the Bible and has brought a whole new light into how we can relate our daily lives to scripture. Thanks to all who have attended the class and we hope that you will continue to come for the second book. For those of you that have not attended class, our next book will be "Fearless," also by Max Lucado. We started this book today. If there is a different book that you would like to look at please bring your ideas to the class so we can make a decision and purchase the books at least a week before the scheduled start date. This class is open to all and I would encourage everyone to attend so we can have a more well rounded discussion.

Focus Group – The members of the Focus Group are Joe Hampton, Ted Taylor, Fergus Lloyd, Kim Eric, and Samantha Dougan. Please send any of the members your thoughts and suggestions, and they will discuss in detail at the next meeting. Note from the Wood's – Thank you for the potted plant. It is a beautiful plant and our mother loves it. Also, thank you to the many people who sent cards to Tim while he was at Evergreen and for the many prayers that were sent on his and our family's behalf. And the cards you have sent our mother since.

New Belmont Website and Email – The Belmont website has been under construction for the past couple months and the hard work has finally paid off. Please check out the new look and feel at www.belmontchurch.org. In addition to getting information on upcoming events, and checking out some resources like Christian universities and youth camps, you can download bulletins and sermons from past Sundays, view photos from past events, and check out our new Preacher's Corner blog, updated by Shane. We will soon have a new email address to which you will send prayer requests, bulletin requests, website requests, and any other suggestions or ideas. This will be listed in next week's bulletin. In the meantime, check out the new website and see how you like it!

The Greenwoods – The test results from Mike's MRI, CT scan, PET scan and X-rays were all good. The proton radiation treatment did its job well. There is still a small spot remaining, which could either be lymphoma or just simply inflammation from the radiation treatments. The doctors want to move to the next stage and have him receive the stem cell transplant from his older brother within about a week. The transplant should take care of any residual cancer cells. Mike and Yin-Fong will be residents of Houston for a season and then they will return. They send thanks everyone for the care, concern and the prayers to the Lord of all on their behalf.
